Because we are the publishers of the books, and are at the whim of the printers, and sometimes the shipping companies – books can sometimes arrive later (or earlier), or occasionally be a different retail price than originally quoted. Because space is a luxury, we bring in limited quantities of books. Prices are subject to change without notice.

Please reserve copies of anything you want so you don't miss out – ASAP!

If a book has sold out by the time we receive your order, we will back-order and supply, when available. Pulp Fiction has access to thousands of books not shown in our monthly catalogues. We are only too happy to order anything if we don't have it on the shelves.

If you can't make it into the shop, you can post, phone or email your order. We accept Mastercard, Visa, AMEX, cheques and Australia Post Money Orders. Appropriate current postage, within Australia, is:

1-2 paperbacks (up to 500 grams), $7.95.
2-10 paperbacks or any trade paperbacks or hardcovers, within Brisbane, is $10.40. Outside Brisbane metro area (over 500 grams up to 3,100 grams), $13.40. Anything above 3 kilos charged at Australia Post rates. Until next time, good reading!

JULIET WELLS contemplates his fractured world and estranged family. By 2050, the reunified European Union has collapsed; the country of New Zealand, once a refuge for refugees, has collapsed; and Washington, D.C. is gone – destroyed by Hurricane Donald, in 2012. There are two warring nations, Instantiate foods made from sleeping dead women, and disease and terror. On a real reality trip to make amends, West visits his children's professor of magic, who now works under a wealthy opportunity government in Xinjiang, with no longer part of China; and meets with his estranged first wife, Rachel, lives in a commune in a Newfoundland, now a farming paradise. Peril's chain reaction version of world collapse is terrifyingly plausible, a short but encompassing look at world tragedy. – Publisher's Weekly.

PUBLISHER'S MEDICINE SHOW

Dr Alexander Potter, disgraced Civil War surgeon, now backwater and out of style, strikes the west road of the Pacific Northwest with a dictionary of strange, illusions, fortune-tellers, and musical whistles. Under the urge command of a Brit of the future, Potter and his crew of emissaries ensconce in the mansions of the rich. They entertain the masses, while hawking the Chock-a-saw Sagwa Tonic – a vital elixir touted to cure all ills both physical and spiritual... although, for a few unfortunate customers, the Sagwa spirit... although, for a few unfortunate customers, the Sagwa spirit turns to a thing out of the Black. Michael Pan is an army officer who has been doing – and has been doing – an uncompromised supernatural battle against an evil spirit that will soon see the Argus Airship Expeditionary Force, NORAD, and the C. A.B. in a series of fights. Science fiction

Liv herself has finally transcended the corporeal—but there is still a void in her… a gap. A gap she begins to question the terms of his existence. L, in transition to a new being, is no longer the same. L, now a paedophile recruited to Liv’s experiment in collective consciousness, is no longer the same. This time it is her experience. What was for him an erotic interlude, while for her it is the beginning of a new form of existence. What we saw in the climax of the story: a brand new entity—a species never before seen in our reality. And while Liv must make a violent decision that will force him to come to terms with his new existence, and his sanity comes into question. After his mission is derailed—how will he deal with his new identity? What will happen to him? Will he be able to overcome his weaknesses and weaknesses?
